

ALEXANDRIA.

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 14.

MR. HARRISON concedes that the surplus in the treasury is entirely too large, and must be dissipated. But he doesn't want the chief means by which that surplus is maintained and increased—the tariff—touched. "No," says he, "sooner than that be touched, give us free whisky." "But, sir," ask the democrats, "how must the surplus that is being increased daily by the tax on the necessities of life be dissipated?" "My dear sirs," he replies, "by purchasing the government's outstanding bonds." Yes, that is the plan of Mr. Harrison, the protectionists' candidate for the Presidency. Continue to tax raw material and the articles which people have to buy in order to live, and expend the sum thus collected in the purchase of undue government bonds at a high premium! Who hold government bonds, poor or rich people? Who says the republican party is not the friend of labor and of the poor man?

A GREAT clamor has been raised in a part of the North because some Catholic parents there, in accordance with the admonition of their bishop, have withdrawn their children from the public, and sent them to the parochial schools. As this is a free country, and as the parents referred to continue to pay taxes for the support of the public schools, why they shouldn't be allowed to educate their children according to their own ideas is hard to tell. Indeed as any sort of religion is better than none at all, and as no sort is taught in the public schools, it seems strange that many parents who are not Catholics should not follow the example thus set them, and send their children to schools where religion is taught, for it is impossible to teach religion without teaching morality.

MR. HARRISON is another illustrious convert to General Raun's doctrine, that a modern politician can't afford to be consistent. He now says the tax on whisky and tobacco should be removed before that on raw material and the necessities of life be reduced. But before he was nominated for President, and before the platform of the Chicago convention was adopted, he said "whisky and tobacco should be the last articles from which the hand of the tax gatherer is lifted." He had the interests of his country more at heart then than now.

THE LOSS in net earnings of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad by the strike of its employees amounts to nearly six million dollars. But the business of the road is still going on, and is gradually increasing, and, either by reductions in the wages of the new labor it employs, or by increased freight charges, the loss referred to will be made up sooner or later. How different it is with the loss the strikers have sustained, and who know the sufferings the families of the strikers have endured by reason of the strike?

THE OBJECT for which the protective tariff was instituted was to stimulate and foster the infant industries of the country. Mr. Clay said protection would not be required nor demanded after the year 1843. It is now 1888, and the tariff is twice as high as ever entered Mr. Clay's imagination. Why sixty million people should allow themselves to be pillaged for the sole purpose of increasing the profits of a few rich mine and factory owners is one of the strangest things of this strange, eventful age.

THE TAX on coal not only adds to the price of that article, but stimulates the formation of coal trusts, which enable the coal barons to increase still further the price of their product. Rich people can afford to lay in their winter's supply of coal in the summer, when it is cheap. The poor, who buy theirs by the ton or less, have to get it in the winter, when it is dear. Why, of course, the tariff is for the benefit of the poor.

If, as the result of all the recent State elections seems to indicate, the prohibition vote at the coming Presidential election will be cast for the republican candidates, why shouldn't all the anti-prohibitionists vote the democratic ticket? The democratic, is certainly the personal liberty party of the country.

THE PRESIDENT tries hard to teach his party the civil service reform humbug, but they won't learn. Neither the national democratic platform nor that of the democratic convention of his own State says a word on the subject of that injurious and transparent sham. Old dogs can't learn new tricks.

From Washington
[Special Correspondence of the ALEX. GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 14, 1888.
Representative Lee, of the Alexandria district, and Col. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, spent yesterday at the Loudoun county fair, and made speeches in Leesburg. General Lee says Colonel Breckinridge made one of the happiest speeches of his life and that it was received with unanimous applause. The General says that on the fair grounds he talked with reliable people from all parts of Loudoun county, and that not once did he hear of any defection or dissatisfaction among the democrats of that county; and that he was assured they would give their usual majority next November. He says he was also assured that there was no truth in the report that the mechanics of Loudoun are in favor of Harrison because they believe that high tariff makes high wages, as they have too much good common sense to be deceived by any such erroneous idea.

There is no quorum of the House present now and will not be until the election shall have been held, nor is there any reason why there should be, as it has been generally agreed that no more legislation shall be attempted during the remainder of the session. The conference committee on the sundry civil bill agreed upon their report to day. This leaves but one appropriation bill, the deficiency, unpassed, and that has been passed by the House and will, it is understood, be reported in the Senate the first of next week. As the House has nothing to do, when it adjourns to day it will be until Monday.

The House to day after passing the Senate resolution appropriating $200,000 for the suppression and exclusion of yellow fever went on the private calendar and considered bills to which there was no objection. In the Senate a lively debate sprang up on Mr. Platt's resolution concerning the copper tariff, during which Mr. Vest said he did not believe the republican members of the Senate finance committee intended to report a tariff bill. Mr. Sherman said the Mills bill was drawn up so as to injure northern, but benefit southern industries.

At the request of parties at Falls Church, General Lee will ask certain members of the House to discuss the tariff question before a public audience at that place to-morrow week. The General says Representative Stone of Missouri will speak at Culpeper C. H. next Monday, and that Senator Daniel and himself are booked for Fairfax C. H. on the same day.

Representative Yost will leave this evening for Montreal, Nelson county, where he will open his canvass to-morrow. As there is neither general nor local business to keep him here he will probably not return during the remainder of the session, unless it shall last until after the election.

General Mahone is here, in his old rooms at Chamberlain's, and has had a consultation with Chairman Quay of the national republican committee. It is understood that the delegation of his followers who called on Mr. Quay here a day or two ago to induce him to take part in the Virginia squabble and make the kickers withdraw their opposition to the General's supreme rule had an unsatisfactory visit and were given to understand that the Virginia republicans must settle their quarrels in their own way without the interference of the national republican committee.

Though members of both houses are anxious to adjourn, the date of adjournment is as indefinite now as ever. Mr. Oates says he will call up his resolution to adjourn on the 20th pretty soon unless the Ways and Means Committee shall report upon it, as the Senate has had sixty days to prepare their tariff bill. The Ways and Means committee, however, say they will not consider his resolution until the Senate shall not only report its bill but take action upon it.

It is reported that Associate Justice Miller of the U. S. Supreme Court is ill and will die, and thus give the President a chance to appoint another democrat on the Supreme Bench.

A complaint against Surgeon General Hamilton of the marine hospital service for his management of the yellow fever epidemic has been received from New Orleans with a request that in that management he be superseded by one familiar with the disease.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Judge Thurman says the republican majority in Maine was not larger than he had anticipated, and that it will not have any bearing upon the general election.

The republican plurality in Maine has been figured down to less than 19,000. The democratic cast the largest vote they ever polled in the State as a straight organization.

There is a growing feeling at the Capitol in favor of a speedy adjournment of Congress. The republicans are said to fear that President Cleveland might secure some political advantage if Congress does not remain in session throughout the campaign.

Ex Senator Joseph E. McDonald, of Indiana, was a visitor at democratic headquarters in New York yesterday. In speaking of the political situation in Indiana he said: "I regard the situation in Indiana as very favorable to the success of the democratic party."

The republicans of Henrico and Richmond have nominated J. S. Bethel for the State Senate against Mr. H. T. Wickham, and A. M. Kaufman for the House of Delegates. Kaufman and Bethel were candidates for the Richmond Council in the democratic primary last spring, and were defeated.

At the republican convention at Petersburg yesterday to elect delegates to the Congressional convention, Langston, colored, elected all his delegates, defeating Mahone's men. Brady made a speech denouncing Gen. Mahone. The anti-Langston faction later appointed delegates.

The republican congressional convention for the third (the Richmond) district, met yesterday and nominated ex Judge Edmund Waddill, a Mahoneite, of Henrico, for the House of Representatives. His opponent for the nomination was ex-City Sergeant James C. Smith, of Richmond. The vote stood 572 for Waddill and 54 for Smith. From the moment of its being called to order until its close the convention, which was composed chiefly of colored delegates, was one of the most turbulent and disorderly political bodies that ever assembled.

Secretary Whitney returned to Washington yesterday and said with reference to his alleged intention to resign: "There is no foundation for the statement, nor for the reason last given in its support; namely, that I am a protectionist and was opposed to the President's message on that ground, and therefore will resign after election. Mr. Whitney added with reference to the use of his name in the Senate in connection with the Standard Oil Trust: 'I have never owned a dollar in it, nor ever had any relation to it. Every officer and director of the trust, I believe, is a republican, and so are nine-tenths of its stockholders.'

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has met the cut in grain freights from Chicago to the seaboard.

Dr. Mary Walker wants to go South and nurse the yellow fever sufferers. Let her go by all means.

Five persons while pleasuring on the Hudson river yesterday were drowned by the sinking of their boat.

Mr. George Law, of New York, says he is not the man who contributed $12,000 for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers.

There was much excitement in Wall street yesterday and there was a drop in stocks caused by the passing of the usual dividends on St. Paul shares.

John L. Sullivan will go to New York next week to consult with his backers and the Brooklyn syndicate over the proposed meeting with Kilrain.

The launch of the new steel cruiser Baltimore, which was to have taken place at the shipyard of Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia, to-morrow has been postponed until further notice.

Ex Governor Berry, of New Hampshire, one of the few war Governors now living, celebrated the ninety second anniversary of his birth at his home, in Bristol, N. H., recently.

A man who said he arrived from Jacksonville, Fla., was found ill on the street in Philadelphia yesterday. The physicians think that if the man's story is true he undoubtedly has yellow fever.

The body of Prof. Proctor, the astronomer, who died of yellow fever in New York on Wednesday evening will be kept in a sealed metal coffin in an atmosphere of sulphurous acid gas until decision is made as to its disposal.

Dr. George C. Worthington, of Baltimore was arrested by Detective Hagan last night, charged on the oath of Marshal Frey, on information received, with causing the death of Kate Miter, by producing an abortion on her August 27. Mrs. Miter died at her home shortly after one o'clock yesterday morning.

Alvin M. Valencia, conductor, and Lawrence Hunter, porter of the Monarch sleeper car, running between Boston and Fabyans, have been arrested for the theft of a diamond pin left in the car by a passenger. The setting has been recovered. The porter says that he swallowed the diamond.

There seems no longer to be any reasonable doubt that Mr. Robert Garrett is suffering from insanity, and that there is very little hope of any improvement in his condition. The indications are that he has entered on the final stage of his disease, and that he will grow steadily worse until the end.

The sugar refiners of this country are being compelled to purchase their raw sugar product from England. This is mainly brought about by the decreased production of raw sugar and the manipulations of the sugar trust of this country, by which cargoes were diverted from this country to Europe.

The League games for the baseball championship played yesterday resulted as follows: Chicago 5, New York 3; Detroit 11, Philadelphia 2; Boston 10, Indianapolis 7; Washington 8, Pittsburgh 8. No League games are scheduled for to-day, but it is probable the clubs will play off some of the postponed games.

Virgil Martin, the 17-year-old son of Rev. Judson W. Martin, of Troy, N. Y., was married yesterday to Fannie Ward, a widow aged 49. They were unable to leave the city, as the house, since the wedding, has been surrounded by a crowd of at least five hundred men, women and children, who gave Mr. and Mrs. Martin a serenade.

The steamer La France, when entering Port Luz, Canary Islands, at 8 o'clock yesterday evening, ran into the Italian steamer Sud America, from Montevideo. The latter vessel, which was lying at anchor, sunk in a few minutes in ten fathoms of water. The Sud America carried 216 passengers and had a crew of 67 men. Of these, 180 passengers and 63 of the crew reached the shore in safety. Nine bodies have thus far been recovered.

The new Catholic church in Woodstock, will be dedicated on Sunday. Bishop Keane will officiate on the occasion.

The Loudoun Fair closed to-day. The bad weather kept many from attending on the first day, but the attendance yesterday and to day was fair. The racing was considered good, though the track was heavy.

The boiler of the portable steam engine of Mrs. Hampton & Kephart exploded on the farm of Mr. C. M. Castleman, in Clarke county, a few days since and slightly hurt Mr. Kephart and one of the hands named George Unger. Some of the pieces of the boiler were thrown a distance of 150 yards.

THE COMET.—Prof. Boss, of the Dudley Observatory, has completed calculations of the orbit of the new comet discovered by Prof. Barnard on September 2. This comet has remained so nearly stationary in the sky since its discovery that the determination of its true orbit or path in space has been a work of great difficulty, and the results at present reached can be regarded as merely approximate. According to these the comet is about now twice as far from the earth as the sun is, or about 190 million miles, and is at the same time about 170 million miles from the sun. It is moving toward its perihelion, or a point where it will be nearest the sun, and present calculations indicate that this point will be reached on December 10, but this date is liable to be in error by fully thirty days. As the comet and the earth are moving toward each other from opposite directions, the velocity of approach toward us is something unusual—about three million miles a day. Consequently the comet will rapidly increase in brightness; for instance—on October 6 it will be about five times as bright as at the discovery, and about the middle of November six times as bright. But at discovery it was extremely faint, and it is rather doubtful whether it will become visible to unaided eyes. Subsequent calculations will determine this question with much greater certainty.

SENATE.

Mr. Farwell introduced a bill to abolish rents for the use of Potomac water for domestic purposes in the District of Columbia. Referred.

Mr. Platt's resolution of yesterday in reference to the copper syndicate was then taken up.

The resolution was after debate laid aside without action, and the Senate took up the Chinese exclusion bill.

A vote was taken on Mr. Blair's motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed and it resulted yeas 18; nays 17.

As there was no quorum voting or likely to vote, it was arranged by unanimous consent, that the next vote should be taken at one o'clock next Monday.

Shortly before dark they entered a large sewer on 48th street to inspect it. When they started in there was no sign of rain but a few minutes later a heavy storm passed over the city. The party had proceeded about 1,000 feet when they were startled by the noise of rushing waters. Before they could turn the water was upon them; they had to run for their lives and by the time they reached the entrance the water was up to their waists. A moment later the sewer was filled to its utmost capacity.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—Frank Corfrey, Eugene Webb, Minnie Taffley and Rose Esick, each about 22 years of age, and all residing in this city, were out on the Schuylkill river in a row-boat about nine o'clock last evening and the boat getting beyond their control was carried by the strong current over the Flat Rock dam north of the city. The boat overturned as it went over the dam. Webb succeeded in swimming to shore. Murdered by his Guide.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Advices from the Congo river say that Major Barttelot has been murdered by his carriers, and that Jamieson has returned to Stanley Falls, and is organizing a new expedition. The news of the murder of Major Barttelot, the leader of the expedition in search of Henry M. Stanley, has given rise to speculation regarding the fate of the great explorer himself. The London newspapers are unanimously of the opinion that Major Barttelot was betrayed by Tippoo Tib, who organized the native portion of the expedition, and the question is asked why may not Stanley have been also the victim of his treachery.

The train load of refugees arrived yesterday at Hendersonville, N. C., which is the destination of the fugitives. The train, which consisted of ten coaches, was packed with between four and five hundred grown people and perhaps a hundred children. At every little country station along the route crowds of people were gathered. When the cars stopped each window would be filled by the head and shoulders of a refugee. The moment the Floridians' heads were pushed through the car windows the crowds would flee like sheep, with all the speed that their legs would command and seemed as much frightened as if the pestilence were already among them.
